REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For Representative, BEN T. ROBINSON.

Our Special Coal Edition.

THE BEE'S Special Coal Edition will be out in a few days now. There have been innumerable delays from numberless sources, and the edition comes much later than was intended. But the effort has been made to have a creditable paper that would properly represent the great coal interests of the Western Kentucky field and do credit to the enterprising coal operators represented, and to our many advertisers, who are among the leading manufacturers and merchants of the United States. Although somewhat delayed THE BEE is proud of the showing made, by this, the first "Special Edition" in its history.

We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save bours of suffering while a physician is swaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure: bu we do believe that if a bottle of Chamber lain's Diarrhoss Remedy were kepi or band and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of physician would not be required. The question may be asked, is the man who will lead a political mob in a convention fit for the duties of a public trust? The public is too tolerant of looseness in nominating conventions anyhow and no better political reform could be launched than one having in view the improvement of convention manners. It is time for the suppression of ruffianism in party conventions, and the sooner the task is accomplished the better.

10. "And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Daniel, I fear my lord the king."

The fear of man bringeth a snare, but whose trusteth in the Lord happy is he.

The prince feared man, for he did not know God. Daniel; knew God and feared no man. We may hope that through no man. We may hope that through Daniel the prince came to know the God of Daniel. Unless through us those who know not God are learning to know Hlm, our testimony is not as good as it might

11, 12. "Provo thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days, and let them give us pulse to cat and water to drink." The blessing of the Lord upon very plain food will do more for our health than the richest food without His hiessing. Man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word of God (Math. 17, 4). Daniel did not live to eat. He would not bow down to idols and probably refrained from the wine and meat from the king's tuble because it was dedicated to idols. In chapter x, 8, it is implied that he did both cat meat and drink wine, except when specially waiting upon wine, except when specially waiting upor wine, except whon specially waiting upon God.

13, 14. "So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten days." Daniel was willing that he and his friends should be judged by the outward evidences. Our Lord said that His works bore witness of Him (John v, 36). We are His workmanship that we may glorify Him by good works which men can see (Eph. fi, 10; Titus iii, 8; Math. v. 16), and although there may be no sin tn eating meat or drinking wine, yet to cause another to stumble by deing either, or by attending the opera or the theater, indulging in the dance or the card table, is wrong before God (Rom. xiv, 21). The child of God does not need the things of this world to satisfy his soul. He becomes abundantly satisfied with Him who is altogether levely.

The Fatin the Fire.

From New Haven Echo.

The people of Kentucky have very clearly shown in the past few real of the poole of the condition of Daniel and his friends at the end of the land his friends at the end of the land his friends at the end of ten days as compared with the others who were chosen with them to stand in the king's palace. It was manifest in their case that the blessing of the Lord made rich oven in the matter of flesh and blood (Prov. x, 22). The eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth to show Himself strong on behalf of those cline to Abdicate in Favor and God honored them by giving them that which would most glorify Him. Where It has been suggested that a His He will see to it that the heart is filled memorial meeting be held some- with Himself and with His Spirit for His service. He knows all the circumstances in which we will ever be placed, and He will not fail to meet all our need that He may be glerified (Phil. iv, 19). The first "behold" in the Bible is in connection with giving, and God said, "Behold, I have given" (Gen. 1, 29).

18, 19. "Among them all was found The bodies of the deceased could none like Daniel, Hanantah, Mishael and he in state—say the capital at Frankfort and over the door could be incribed, "Sacred to the memowisdom, and it was all the Lord's doing,"

20. "Teu times better than all the ma gicians and astrologers that were in all his realm." Thus the king of Babylon found them upon examination, because their wisdom was of God. The wisdom of this world is a vain thing and wholly un-able to understand the things of God. That is one of the great trutha taught re-peatedly in this book, and perhaps is one reason why the religious wisdom of this world in certain so called higher critics would, if it could, set aside this book, as well as some others. But it is written, "Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled fr heaven" (Ps. oxix, 89), so that not only is Daniel there, but his book too, 21. "And Daniel continued oven unto the first year of King Cyrus." Thus he tived all through the 70 years of the captivity, and we find him also in the third year of Cyrus and in the first year of Darius the Medu (Dan. x, I; xI, I). Not only did he live, but he continued a faithful witness for God. Patient continuance in well doing (Rom. ii, 7) is a good evidence of growth in grace. Our Lord said, 'If ye continue in my word, then are ye My disciples indeed" (John vill, 81).
